

SSC, equivalent exam results on Friday

July 27, 2023

Online Desk: The results of the Secondary School Certificate (SSC) and equivalent examinations-2023 will be published across the country on Friday. Education Minister Dipu Moni will hand over a summary of the results to Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina at around 10am, Dhaka Education Board Chairman Professor Tapan Kumar Sarker told journalists.

Later, the Education Minister will announce the results officially at a press conference at the International Mother Language Institute (IMLI) in the capital at 11am. The results will be published at the respective educational institutions and online simultaneously around 10.30am, said a notification of Dhaka Education Board.

According to the notification, students can get their results by visiting the website www.educationboardresults.gov.bd and entering their roll and registration number. Apart from this, they can also get the results by sending an SMS to 16222.

Around 20, 72,153 students under the 11 education boards— nine general, one madrasa and one technical— appeared at the SSC and equivalent examinations. The exams were held in all subjects with full 100 marks but on curtailed syllabuses. The decision to shorten the syllabuses was made considering the fact that the candidates of these public exams attended fewer in-person classes compared to the pre-Covid period.
