

Rain likely in parts of country, cold wave again

January 14, 2023

The Daily Morning Voice Online Desk: Drizzles may occur in parts of the country in 24 hours, according to the Met office's forecast on Saturday. Meanwhile, the cold wave with dense fog is going at most parts of the country again, though night temperature may rise slightly.

“Weather may remain mainly dry with partly cloudy skies over the country, with chances of drizzles at one or two places over Khulna, Rajshahi, Rangpur, Dhaka, Mymensingh, Barishal, Chattogram and Sylhet divisions,” Bangladesh Meteorological Department (BMD) said in its bulletin. Country's lowest temperature was recorded at 6.1 degree Celsius in Panchagarh's Tentulia today, while the highest temperature was recorded at 29.6 degree Celsius in Teknaf of Chattogram division.
