

Extra admission fees: Education Ministry starts visiting institutions

December 21, 2022

The Daily Morning Voice Online Desk: The Education Ministry has formed monitoring committees to prevent charging extra admission and readmission fees in different schools and colleges across the country. Four monitoring committee each led by a deputy secretary, on Wednesday visited a number of educational institutions to check whether the authorities concerned are taking admission fees, development fees and others for 2023 session following the admission policy of the ministry, said a media release of the Education Ministry signed by its public relations officer M Abul Khayer, reports UNB.

Besides, 16 monitoring committees formed by the Directorate of Secondary and Higher Education, eight divisional committees in Dhaka Metropolitan area, 55 district monitoring committees and upazila monitoring committees are also visiting educational institutions to check any violation of the government policy. Steps will be taken against those concerned if irregularities are found, it said.
